Natural Gas as the Efficient and Sustainable Energy for Europe - EFG 2007 invites the European gas experts to discussions and exchanges of experience on a selection of technical issues of special importance for the European Gas Market.

For the 5th time the EFG programme deals with current challenges of the European Gas Industry and reflects - this year - especially the gas aspects of the newly announced Energy Policy of the European Commission in its broad diversity.

A special highlight offers the Round Table on the European Gas Policy. Andris Piebalgs, EU Commissioner for Energy and Transport will introduce the subject with a Keynote speech "Which European Gas Policy?". VIPs representing European and National Organisations such as the EU Parliament or the French Authorities will debate on the consequences and potential solutions for the sector:

- W. Bosmans, President, EUROGAS,
- P-F. Chevet, General Director, French Ministry of Economy, Finances and Industry,
- Prof. Dr. K. Homann, past President, MARCOGAZ,
- A. Mernier, Secretary General, Energy Charter,
- C. Turmès, Member of the European Parliament.

The sessions will refer to technical and strategic aspects which currently define the orientation of the gas branch and invites to constructive discussions on:

- Energy Efficiency and sustainability in the Natural Gas Industry,
- Gas Technologies - Challenges of Research and Developments,
- Gas Quality,
- Network Asset Management.

The Round Table as well as the R&D Session take place together with the French Gas Conference of AFG (for details see: www.congresdugaz.fr).
