

Recruiting and Retaining Talent in the Gas Industry: Challenges and Opportunities in the Middle East

Objective:

Task Force 1 (TF1) of the IGU 2009-2012 Triennium will hold 3 workshops to debate and understand the key issues impacting the attraction and retention of talent in the gas industry. The first TF1 workshop will be held in Doha with the aim of gathering comprehensive information as well as developing a strategic approach to human capacity in the Middle East, as required for the attraction and retention of skilled workforces in the region and to ensure continued safe operations in the gas industry. Participation in this workshop is by invitation.

October 19, 2010
at Four Seasons Hotel
Doha, Qatar

RSVP to Salli Cavanagh at Tel +44 1932 760708 or email at salli.cavanagh@uk.bp.com

The Programme

1400	Welcome Note from IGU	Datuk Abdul Rahim/Ho Sook Wah
1410	Update on Task Force 1	Ieda Gomes
1420	Regional Panel with representation from Qatar, Oman, UAE, Saudi Arabia, with focus on: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Key challenges and opportunities • Employment of national workforce • Best practices in field of Human Capital development and management • Retaining and attracting women
1535	Tea / Coffee break
1600	Experience from other developing/mature markets (Europe, Asia)
1630	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Round-table discussions on the following themes: • Shortage of skills in the sector? Is the shortage restricted to specific skills? • Best practices in the area of Human Capital development • Challenges in attracting/retaining talent • Future developments in the sector that may effect how we look at talent today
1745	Conclusion/Recommendations and closing of the workshop
2000	Welcome Dinner hosted by IGU

The Workshop Host:

Task Force Sponsors:

